TERM THEME : HUMILITY

The Tree and the Reed

(Adapted from Aesop's Fables)

Once upon a time a tall, pompous tree and a small, humble reed grew side by side in the forest. One day the big tree said to the little reed, "Why don't you sink your feet deeply into the ground and raise your head boldly into the air as I do?"

The modest reed thought for a moment and said, "Great tree, I may not look as grand as you, but I think I am safer down here."

The tall tree sneered and said, "Safe? You are so small that anyone could pull you up by the roots and toss you aside. But my roots are too deep to pull up, and I am too tall for anyone to make me bow my head to the ground."

The next day a ferocious hurricane formed. It tore the large tree up by its roots and threw it down to the ground. The mighty tree was suddenly a mortally wounded log. The little reed, however, bent to the force of the wind and stood upright again when the storm had passed. The final words from the once proud tree were, "Now I understand the meaning of 'Pride goes before a fall.'"

"Always remember that there are two types of people in this world: Those who come into a room and say, 'Well, here I am!' and those who come in and say, 'Ah, there you are!'"

- Frederick L. Collins
